India holds 4% of the world's freshwater but supports 18% of the global population, facing rapid groundwater depletion and water stress, making conservation crucial!